LETS MAKE A NEW INDIA

livestock contributes to nearly 40% of total agricultural outputs in developed countries and 20% in developing ones, supporting the livelihoods of at least 1.3 billion people worldwide. 34% of global food protein supply comes from livestock. It plays an important role in poverty reduction strategies. About 20.5 million people depend upon livestock for their livelihood in India. Livestock contributed 16% to the income of small farm household as against an average of 14% for all rural households. This sector contributes 4.11% GDP and 25.6% of total agriculture GDP. It also provides 8.8% employment in our country. For low-income producers, livestock can serve as a store of wealth, provide draught power and organic fertiliser for crop production and a means of transportation. Livestock help bring in stability in farm businesses

To come ahead of the world livestock economy, India has a great opportunity and space to work hard in this sector so that we can help our economy booming up, a large mass of people live under poverty line can be provided with great livelihood & stable financial status, a massive entrepreneurial start-up in the lower economic group. The landless and marginal farmers can be greatly benefitted from this kind of farming, if provided with required support and training as well as choosing the most profitable types. If we take necessary measure to bring more production of livestock farming in India, then our country could be the largest livestock producing country in the world in less than 10 years and we also can bring more 20 million people to have a stabilised income above from poverty line in our country.

This is a specially designed program to boost the Indian economy through highly profitable farming processes. This program is a direct blessing for the poor class (the landless and marginal land holders), so that a large mass can be directly employed, some can be provided with training and support for starting livestock farming where the rest can be trained and supported for entrepreneurial start up. The investment comes through subscriptions with a guaranteed return from the farmers guaranteed by angelus with attractive return model along with government subsidy funds. The subscriber can provide a particular number of livestock or they can buy the same through angelus for a particular tenure as an investment that guarantees a great return to their investment. At the same time, the trained poor farmer or farms employed with poor trained employees will take care of them. The training, resources, medical help and insurance of the livestock is taken care and supervised under angelus, which trains the farmers as well as the production goes right at the same time. The model is designed in such a way that the caretaker gets a livelihood for the whole time it takes care of the livestock as well as they also get a particular number of breeds as a reward after a successful tenure. Here it stands a win-win situation for the investor as well as the farmer.

After being trained, the farmers are supported to get subsidy and loan from government as well as local bank to increase their portfolio and get an independent livelihood for their families. Angelus has been partnered with several agencies, farmers, farming companies, Livestock Doctors and also government agencies to make the most out of this sector that could directly benefit those who wants a handsome return to their money as well as to those who truly need to come out of poverty with a stabilised living.

Details:

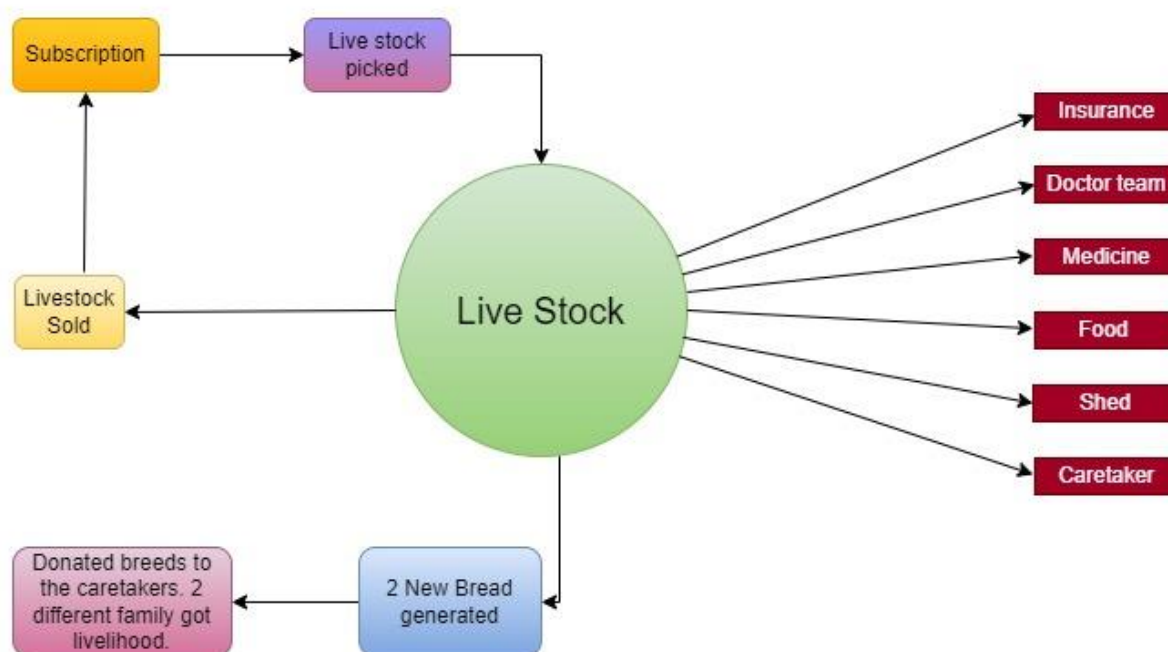

A subscribing member can be the part of the investment by choosing a subscription plan. The subscription asks the member either to buy a livestock of particular kind or to pay a defined subscription fee for a unit of livestock for as much as unit he/she wants to buy. Then under a documented agreement in stamp paper with angelus, they hand over the animal to angelus for a certain period of time as mentioned in the agreement. They can visit and take details of their livestock throughout the tenure whenever they like as documented. At the end of the subscription, they get the promised return and also as a subscription member they contribute to the project that is destined for by supporting the program actively or passively. This is a pan India program, while the farms and the farmers belong to different parts of the country. The subscriber details and subscription and payment details are available on the Angelus India website after signing in to their respective areas while a detailed paper agreement bond dispatches to the member withing 4-10 working days through mail. The detail financial assessment and reports of the program is always available on Angelus website for public views to maintain transparency in the program.

This economy booster program is a game changer in agri-business in the long run. This will boost our national economy while reducing the poverty level to a significant level. Using low farmland and lower economic resources this model is definitely a next generation thought out of the box. Being responsible Indians, we hold the responsibility to help our economy and social structure to shape up for a better future where we are not losing anything but help all of us grow at the same time. As angelus is a social organisation established as a non-profit, it definitely adds value for running such a great ethical project that brings all responsible Indian to be part of the program by any means and make it successful. Your valued support is a guaranteed rise for a needy one in our social structure. We must contribute to a brand-new India to rise and shine.
